

FEEDING FIDO

Helping keep loved ones together

Who are we?

Feeding Fido was the idea of Ray Fawehimi, the founder of Elmtree, a luxury pet boarding kennels. After a decade of running a true second home for all his clients' pets, Ray had the desire to give back. And so, in 2019, Feeding Fido was set up, with its mission of keeping loved ones together.

What do we do?

Feeding Fido exists to help people who struggle to feed their pets, including both cats and dogs. Whether this is because of unemployment, health issues, personal struggles or low income after retirement or unemployment, we're here to support you.

How do we do it?

We help by providing regular deliveries of food door-to-door. Our lovely team at Elmtree carry out drop-offs whilst picking up our regular canine clients. You can visit our website feeding-fido.org to find out more, and sign up for support.

How can you help?

Feeding Fido is partly funded through the profits from Elmtree Pet Hotel. However, we also receive generous donations from food manufacturers, supermarkets, plus private donations and people fundraising for us. Every donation goes directly to providing meals and supporting people in need.

Are you a pet food manufacturer or supplier? We are always looking to partner with pet food businesses and manufacturers, so that we can increase the number of pet owners we can support.
